Chairman's Message/Message du président du conseil

I AM HONORED to write this inaugural note as CAM's current chairman. During my first four months in office, I've certainly seen a lot of activity with the association.

These are indeed challenging times. Our member companies are dealing with the effects of regional human resource issues, a currency that has changed the marketplace for cross-border moves, oil at $120.00 a barrel and now an economy that looks to be weakening.

They say the one constant in life is change and, for CAM, it's no different. We had a very active winter and, so far, we have:

- Finished our National Compensation survey which we believe is an invaluable tool for our members to benchmark their remuneration programs, not just against other movers but across all industries.
- Updated our Canadian Professional Movers course to make it reflective of today's industry.
- Designed a new logo for our Canadian Professional Mover Course graduates to use that enables them to differentiate themselves to consumers from other salespeople.
- Established a supplier committee to reflect the needs of our supplier members and engage them more actively in the association.
- Set up periodic conference calls with our van-line members in order to get a perspective on their issues.
- Participated in the Canadian Trucking Human Resource Council's initiative to develop the job profile for a professional driver.

While doing all of this, your association has continued with its day-to-day activities, namely making referrals to members, handling complaints and planning our annual golf tournament and conference.

All of this would not be possible without an active and strong Board of Directors.

I can tell you that your current Board meets those criteria and then some. It is a pleasure to work with such a diverse, hardworking and creative group.

Special thanks must be given to Larry Rosenberg, our past chairman. The association grew in size during his tenure, to the largest it's been since its inception over a decade ago. My goal is to build on this positive momentum that Larry helped establish.

I wish everyone a busy and profitable summer season!

Rick Taylor
Chairman, Canadian Association of Movers

EST AVEC GRAND PLAISIR que j'écris ce premier message en tant que nouveau président du conseil de l'ADC. Au cours des quatre premiers mois à ce poste, j'ai été témoin de beaucoup d'activités au sein de l'Association.

Nous sommes confrontés à de nombreux défis. Nos compagnies membres doivent composer avec des problèmes de ressources humaines, de devise monétaire qui modifie le marché des déménagements hors frontières, de hausse du prix de l'huile s'élevant à 120,00 $ le baril et d'une économie qui semble s'affaiblir.

On dit que ce qui demeure invariable dans la vie c'est le changement et il en est de même à l'ADC. Nous avons eu un hiver très mouvementé et jusqu'à maintenant nous avons :

- Terminé notre enquête nationale sur la rémunération. Il s'agit d'un précieux outil de référence, non seulement pour comparer les programmes de rémunération des compétiteurs mais aussi ceux dans les autres industries.
- Mis à jour le cours des déménageurs professionnels pour tenir compte de la réalité actuelle. (Ce cours est en anglais pour l'instant.)
- Conçu un nouveau logo pour les diplômés du cours des déménageurs professionnels qui permet de les distinguer aux yeux des consommateurs et d'autres vendeurs.
- Mis sur pied un comité des fournisseurs pour tenir compte de ces membres et de les faire participer d'avantage aux activités de l'Association.
- Initié des conférences téléphoniques périodiques avec les membres des entreprises de transport par fourgon automobile afin d'avoir une meilleure idée de leurs problèmes.
- Participé aux initiatives du Conseil canadien des ressources humaines en camionnage afin de préparer un profil d'emploi du camionneur professionnel.

Outre ces initiatives, nous avons accompli nos activités journalières, notamment nous avons référer des noms, régler des plaintes et planifier la conférence et le tournoi de golf annuels.

Il ne serait pas possible d'abattre autant de travail sans l'aide d'un conseil d'administration aussi actif et solidaire.

Je peux vous assurer que le conseil actuel est à la hauteur de ses obligations et même plus. C'est un plaisir de travailler avec un groupe aussi diversifié, créatif et dynamique.

Je remercie spécialement Larry Rosenberg, le président du conseil d'administration sortant. L'Association a pris de l'expansion durant son mandat et n'a jamais accueilli autant de membres depuis sa fondation il y a plus de 10 ans. J'entends profiter de cette dynamique et poursuivre le travail que Larry a accompli.

Je vous souhaite un été productif et profitable!

Rick Taylor
Président du conseil de l'Association canadienne des déménageurs

President's Message/Message du président

IT'S SPRING and once again movers' thoughts focus on the summer moving season. As always, members are expecting a busy season but, this year, are holding their breaths waiting to see how the economic situation will unfold.

I attended the AMSA conference in April where the economy was a major topic of discussion. One panel discussed the fact that as the population ages, we are having trouble finding people for jobs rather than the traditional finding jobs for people.

They talked about the importance of consumer education, serving seniors, complaint handling and meeting customer expectations. These are not new, but in a world where the internet is replacing the telephone directory as the prime source of information and providing consumers with a very loud voice, movers must ensure that they inform the consumer and provide excellent service.

Another panel focused on how to operate in an economic slowdown. They had several suggestions:

- Clean up your balance sheet – reduce you receivables and debt
- Push vendors for discounts and price breaks
- Reward your good people
- Reduce the number of underperforming personnel
- Streamline your operations
- Eliminate non-productive assets
- Focus on sales
- Take care of the customer

These are the techniques that work in good times and bad, but are extremely important when margins get thin and revenue is harder to obtain.

The group felt that changing times were opportunities to change an industry in its method of operating, levels of service, customer education and focus, and marketplace communications.

As an association, we are seeing many new members – movers, suppliers, international movers – who are seeing value in CAM and its programs. We welcome Atlas Van Lines as a member. All major van lines are now members.

This issue of The Canadian Mover has articles on Canadian migration patterns, improving your insurance coverage, and a profile on Quick Transfer, our 2007 Innovators Award recipient.

And as a final note, our thanks to Larry Rosenberg for all his efforts in leading CAM in its endeavours over the past couple of years.

John Levi, President

LE PRINTEMPS est à notre porte et à nouveau nous nous préparons pour la saison estivale du déménagement. Comme toujours, les membres peuvent s'attendre d'être très occupés mais cette année chacun retient son souffle et guette ce que nous réserve la conjoncture économique.

J'ai participé à la conférence de l'AMSA en avril où il a été amplement question de l'économie. Un groupe de spécialistes a discuté du manque de main-d'œuvre en raison d'une population vieillissante, un problème à l'inverse de celui de devoir créer des emplois tel qu'il fut toujours.

Ils ont discuté de l'importance de l'éducation des consommateurs, du service auprès de gens âgés, du traitement des plaintes et de la façon de répondre aux attentes des clients. Ces sujets ne sont pas nouveaux mais dans un monde où l'Internet remplace les bottins téléphoniques comme source première d'information sans oublier son influence considérable sur les consommateurs, les déménageurs doivent s'assurer de renseigner et de procurer un excellent service à leurs clients.

Un autre groupe de discussion s'est penché sur les moyens à utiliser en période de marasme des affaires. Ils ont offert plusieurs suggestions :

- Mettre de l'ordre dans votre situation financière – réduire les comptes à payer et les dettes
- Demander aux vendeurs des escomptes et des propositions de prix
- Récompenser les bons effectifs
- Réduire le nombre d'employés non productifs
- Rationaliser l'exploitation
- Éliminer les avoirs non productifs
- Miser sur les ventes
- Bien servir ses clients

Telles sont les moyens utilisés durant les bonnes et mauvaises périodes. Or ils sont encore plus importants lorsque les marges s'amointrissent et qu'il est difficile d'enregistrer des revenus.

Le groupe est d'avis que les temps nouveaux offrent l'occasion de repenser les méthodes d'exploitation, le niveau de service, l'éducation des consommateurs, les cibles à atteindre et les communications sur le marché.

En tant qu'association, nous rencontrons de nouveaux membres - des déménageurs, fournisseurs et déménageurs internationaux – qui comprennent la valeur de l'ACD et de ses programmes. Toutes les principales entreprises de transport par fourgon automobile sont maintenant membres.

Vous trouverez dans ce numéro du Déménageur canadien des articles sur les mouvements migratoires au Canada et sur la façon de consolider votre protection d'assurance. Vous trouverez aussi le profil de la Compagnie Quick Transfer, récipiendaire de notre Prix d'innovation en 2007.

Pour terminer, je tiens à remercier Larry Rosenberg pour tous ses efforts ces dernières années à la tête de l'ACD.

Quick Transfer Group of Companies: A Case Study in Diversification

By Kim Biggar

Member Profile

QUICK TRANSFER, founded in 1959 by Canadian newcomer Herb Mueller, started as a three-truck household-moving company. The company has since become one of Winnipeg's largest providers of transportation and related services, with three divisions and ISO 9001:2000 quality certification.

The principles of hard work, diligence, honesty and integrity, which guided Quick

Transfer in its early days, are the foundation of the company's current mandate, to provide the best-possible service. Four core values – do what's right, do the best you can, respect others and find better ways – form the business's philosophy, which has remained strong even as the company has grown, from a small, family-run moving company to a diversified corporation run by a management team.

Leading that team since 1980 is Ralph Mueller, Herb's eldest son. Ralph's four siblings all have leadership roles in the company, as well. Under Ralph's direction, The Quick Transfer Group has grown and diversified, particularly within the last 15 years or so, during which the company has expanded into specialized freight, export packaging, container loading and

Le groupe de compagnies Quick Transfer : Un cas de diversification à l'étude

Par Kim Biggar

Profil d'un membre

LA COMPAGNIE Quick Transfer a été fondée en 1959 par Herb Mueller, un nouveau venu au Canada. Cette compagnie qui débuta dans le domaine du déménagement résidentiel avec trois camions est devenue l'un des plus importants fournisseurs de transport et services connexes de Winnipeg. Elle compte trois divisions et a reçu la certification de qualité ISO 9001 : 2000.

Le travail acharné, la diligence, l'honnêteté et l'intégrité sont les principes dont s'est inspirée la compagnie Quick Transfer à ses débuts et ils constituent toujours la pierre angulaire du groupe pour offrir le meilleur service. Sa philosophie reposait sur quatre valeurs fondamentales : faire ce qu'il faut faire, le faire de son mieux, respecter son prochain et trouver les meilleures solutions. La compagnie ne s'est jamais écartée de cette éthique au cours de sa progression de petite entreprise familiale à la compagnie diversifiée qu'elle est devenue grâce à son équipe de gestion.

C'est Ralph Mueller, le fils aîné de Herb, qui dirige l'équipe depuis 1980. Les autres membres de la famille occupent également des postes clés dans l'entreprise. Sous la direction de Ralph, le groupe de compagnies de Quick Transfer a progressé et étendu ses ramifications, tout particulièrement au cours des 15 dernières années, dans le fret spécialisé, l'emballage pour l'exportation, le chargement de conteneurs et l'encaissage sur mesure.

Pour compenser les fluctuations saisonnières de l'industrie du déménagement où le mouvement de trésorerie et le personnel peuvent être rares, l'équipe de gestion de Quick Transfer s'est tournée vers des niches moins conjoncturelles sans toutefois s'éloigner de sa sphère de compétence. Grâce à l'expérience acquise dans l'emballage lors des déménagements de biens mobiliers, la compagnie se trouvait bien équipée pour ouvrir des installations d'encaissage sur mesure en 1997. Des meubles, différents types d'équipement, y compris des appareils d'IRM et du matériel fragile, sont emballés et livrés à partir de cet entrepôt. Les services incluent l'emballage pour l'exportation par air ou par mer, la conteneurisation, l'entreposage et plus.

Le commerce de l'encaissage et du chargement dans des conteneurs a conduit custom casing.

To offset the seasonal fluctuations in the moving industry that create cash-flow and staffing issues, Quick Transfer management looked for less-cyclical business opportunities within their area of expertise. With the packing experience staff had gained through the household-moving business, the company was well-equipped for the opening, in 1997, of its custom-crating facility. Furniture, various kinds of machinery, including MRI machines, fragile cargo: all have been packaged at and distributed from this warehouse. Services include export packaging for air or ocean, containerization, warehousing and more.

Through its work in crating and container loading, Quick Transfer saw another opportunity: development of reusable shipping containers. A need in the marketplace for high-quality, customized shipping containers had become apparent to management. QT Cases was born, with the motto: "It's what's INSIDE that counts," reflecting the value of the item being shipped and the need to fit the case to protect the item.

QT Cases designs and manufactures cases and boxes to fill both small, custom orders and large, production orders. The company makes four promises to customers: it will deliver on time and within the agreed-upon budget; it will deliver products and services of unparalleled quality; it will protect customers' valuables; à l'ouverture d'une autre entreprise qui se spécialise dans la conception de contenants de livraison réutilisables. L'équipe de gestion a constaté l'absence sur le marché de contenants personnalisés d'expédition. C'est ainsi qu'est née la division QT Cases qui se donne comme devise : « C'est ce qu'il y a l'intérieur qui compte », d'où le désir de refléter la valeur de l'article expédié dans un contenant propre à le protéger.

La compagnie QT Cases conçoit et fabrique des contenants et boîtes pour répondre à des besoins de petites et grandes envergures de même que sur mesure. La compagnie fait quatre promesses à ses clients : celles de livrer à temps et au prix convenu, d'offrir des produits et services d'une qualité inégalable, de protéger les biens des clients et de leur procurer une valeur pour leur argent. La compagnie QT a confiance de tenir ses promesses en raison de son expérience et de ses connaissances de l'industrie du transport et de l'emballage et de même que des normes élevées auxquelles elle se soumet pour retenir sa certification ISO 9001.

La division, Quick Transfer's Specialized Freight, a été fondée en 1999 pour répondre aux besoins précis de certains clients qui nécessitaient des services que les transporteurs habituels ne pouvaient leur offrir jusqu'à lors. Elle est le bras logistique de la compagnie et fait des affaires partout en Amérique du Nord et dans le monde.

U Need Space, une compagnie d'entreposage libre-service, a ouvert ses portes en 2007 et a permis au groupe Quick Transfer de consolider sa position sur les marchés du transport et l'entreposage.

Toutes ces nouvelles entreprises auxquelles s'ajoutent des activités de vente, de distribution de déménagement et d'installation, démontrent le désir et la capacité de la compagnie Quick Transfer à innover et confirment son sens aigu des affaires dans l'industrie du déménagement et du transport.

Il est probable que l'on peut attribuer en grande partie le succès de cette compagnie aux principes fondamentaux mentionnés précédemment. Le capital humain et les promesses demeurent les fondements de la mission et de la vision de Quick Transfer. Les employés et les relations-clients sont au cœur des préoccupations de cette compagnie. Il n'est pas étonnant que les employés de Quick Transfer soient si motivés et désireux d'attendre la qualité et l'excellence.

En reconnaissance du leadership de cette remarquable compagnie, Ralph Mueller a reçu le Prix d'innovation de l'A.C.D., en décembre 2007.

and, it will provide customers with value for their investments. QT's confidence in making these promises is backed by its experience in and knowledge of the transportation and packaging industry and its adherence to the high standards required to maintain its ISO 9001 certification.

Quick Transfer's Specialized Freight Division was founded in 1999 in response to the special needs of some clients that required more than the standard carrier services offered until then. This business, the company's logistics arm, now operates throughout North America and globally.

U Need Space, a mobile self-storage company started in 2007, further expanded Quick Transfer's capabilities in the transportation and storage markets.

In combination with Quick Transfer's regional retail-distribution activities and its moving and installation work, these newer undertakings certainly demonstrate the company's willingness and ability to innovate, and confirm its strong grasp of the workings of the moving and transportation industry.

It's likely that the company's successes can be attributed in large part to those founding principles mentioned earlier.

Herb and/et Ralph.

People and promises remain key elements of Quick Transfer's mission and vision; employees and customers, and relationships between them, are top-priority corporate concerns. It's little wonder that Quick Transfer employees are motivated and committed, a workforce focused on quality and excellence.

For his leadership at this remarkable company, Quick Transfer's Ralph Mueller received CAM's Innovators Award in December 2007.

How to Avoid Claims for Damage or Loss

By Kim Biggar

And in case you can't, make sure your insurance will provide adequate coverage

WHETHER you're a mover or a mover's customer, you need to be sure that your insurance coverage will be adequate in the case of a problem move. If it's not, the experience of processing a claim will be much more unpleasant and time-consuming for at least one of the parties.

Accidents happen. Even the best-executed moves can be affected by them: a dropped box, a scratched armoire, for example. In a perfect follow-up scenario, the customer and mover agree that the damage occurred during the move and the claim is quickly settled. Unfortunately, perfect scenarios aren't the norm with all moving companies, largely because their move-preparation practices are too casual or rushed.

The essential first step in promoting a glitch-free resolution to a claim is the completion of an accurate bill of lading. According to David Ogilvy, Vice President of Ogilvy & Ogilvy Insurance Brokers, a leading insurance provider to moving companies in Canada, this is where lots of movers slip up. Especially in the busy summer period, when employees are stretched by their increased responsibilities, it can be difficult to find time to generate documentation that is complete and correct. Saving time here by less-than-thorough preparation, however, could prove to be a very poor decision.

The bill of lading is a contract between mover and customer. It outlines the terms and legal liabilities related to the transaction and, once signed, both parties are bound by it. It should include, among other things, a full inventory of items to be moved, with existing damage noted. If the document is not clear or complete, neither party should endorse it. It behoves the customer to ensure that it is accurate in case goods are lost or damaged during the move, and the mover should be equally sure of its accuracy in case a false claim for loss or damage is filed after the move. No matter which side of the transaction you're on when there's a problem, concise paperwork will help to secure a clear solution.

Avoiding mishaps is, of course, also critical. Expert packing, handling and loading during a move go a long way toward preventing the accidents that lead to claims. Good moving companies invest in training programs to ensure that employees are skilled in these areas. Thwarting theft by making sure that trucks are not left unattended could be a money saver, too, in the long run, particularly in urban areas.

Taking these important quality-control steps, movers protect themselves from most customer claims, which is obviously crucial when you look at the numbers.

Moving is a competitive business. Consequently, a moving company is doing well to have a profit margin of five percent. The direct cost of a claim (the out-of-pocket cost to the mover) can easily reach $2,500 (in many cases, this is the equivalent of the mover's insurance deductible on cargo coverage). If you add in indirect costs, such as extra administrative costs for handling the claim, loss of reputation and lost sales, for example, total costs could easily reach $5,000. A mover running with a five percent profit margin must sign another $100,000 in business just to recover those funds.

In a more serious accident in which the moving vehicle is damaged, you can assume that further costs will be incurred, including for rental of a replacement vehicle, accelerated depreciation of equipment, a possible effect on the future cost of insurance, and a possible effect on the cost of Workers Compensation. Once these costs are factored into the scenario, total costs related to a single claim may be $10,000 or more. To recover from a loss of that size, a moving company making a five percent profit must add $200,000 in revenue to its books.

These costs could, of course, be significantly compounded if the company's insurance policy is inadequate, which is most likely to occur if the insurance provider isn't familiar with the ins and outs of the moving and storage industry. Costs could also escalate if a company chooses to deny and/or fight a claim. Costs for court proceedings and employee time alone could be sizeable.

Customers should be aware, too, that their homeowners' insurance – on which they may decide to make a claim for loss or damages incurred during a move – may include conditions that affect coverage, especially in inter-provincial moves when a change of insurers is involved.

Moving companies and their customers should put a solid agreement in writing, and understand that agreement and their responsibilities. With good documentation and good service, most moves go smoothly and, when they don't, problem-resolving is pretty straightforward.

Comment éviter des demandes pour pertes ou dommages

Par Kim Biggar

Et vous assurer d'être bien protégé le cas échéant

QUE VOUS SOYEZ déménageur ou client, vous devez vous assurer d'être bien protégé au cas où il surviendrait un problème qui donne lieu à une demande d'indemnisation. Sinon, vous pourriez vous attirer des désagréments et des pertes de temps coûteuses.

Les accidents arrivent et même lorsqu'un déménagement se déroule de la meilleure façon possible, il est possible d'échapper une boîte ou d'égratigner une armoire par exemple. Selon un scénario parfait, le client et le déménageur conviennent que les dommages se sont produits durant le déménagement et que la demande d'indemnisation sera vite réglée. Malheureusement, les scénarios parfaits ne sont pas la norme, dans toutes les compagnies de déménagement et c'est souvent parce que les préparatifs sont faits trop vites et de façon précaire.

Pour s'éviter de mauvaises surprises il faut tout d'abord remplir un connaissance avec exactitude. Selon David Ogilvy, Vice-président chez Ogilvy & Ogilvy, qui est l'une des principales maisons de courtiers à assurer les compagnies de déménagement au Canada, c'est là que nombre de déménageurs commettent l'erreur. Il peut être difficile, surtout l'été, de trouver le temps de tout bien documenter, lorsque les employés sont surchargés de travail et poussés à la limite. Or une préparation hâtive pour s'épargner du temps n'est pas la meilleure décision à prendre.

Le connaissance est un contrat entre le déménageur et le client. Il précise les conditions et les obligations légales de la transaction et lie les deux parties une fois qu'il est signé. Il devrait comprendre entre autres, un inventaire des objets à déménager et indiquer tout dommage existant. Si le document n'est pas clair ou incomplet aucun des intéressés ne devrait le signer. Le connaissance incite le client à s'assurer que tout est exact si jamais des meubles se perdent ou sont endommagés durant le déménagement et procure au déménageur une preuve à l'appui si une fausse réclamation est soumise pour pertes ou dommages. Peu importe de quel côté vous vous trouvez, des documents bien rédigés vous aideront à trouver la bonne solution s'il y a un problème.

Il va de soi que vous devez vous éviter des contretemps. Si vous confiez l'emballage, la manutention et le chargement à des experts, le risque d'accidents pouvant se solder par une réclamation se trouvera réduit. Les bonnes compagnies de déménagement investissent dans des programmes de formation pour s'assurer que leurs employés ont les compétences voulues dans ces domaines. Décourager les voleurs en s'assurant de ne pas laisser les camions sans surveillance peut aussi faire économiser de l'argent à la longue, surtout dans les régions urbaines.

En prenant des mesures de contrôle de la qualité les déménageurs se protègent contre des réclamations qui pourraient avoir un effet adverse sur leur chiffre d'affaires.

La compétition est serrée dans le domaine du déménagement. Une compagnie devrait donc s'assurer d'avoir une marge de profits de cinq pour cent. Les coûts directs d'une demande de règlement (les dépenses remboursables du déménageur) peuvent atteindre 2 500 $ (dans nombre de cas, ce montant équivaut à la franchise d'assurance d'un chargement). Si l'on ajoute les frais indirects tels que les frais administratifs supplémentaires pour traiter la demande de règlement, la perte de ventes et de la réputation, le total pourrait facilement s'élever à 5 000 $. Un déménageur dont la marge de profits est de cinq pour cent devra faire 100 000 $ pour recouvrer cette perte.

Dans une situation encore plus sérieuse où le véhicule est endommagé, on peut présumer qu'il y aura d'autres dépenses, y compris la location d'un véhicule de remplacement, l'amortissement accéléré de l'équipement, l'augmentation possible des coûts d'assurance et d'indemnisation pour accidentés du travail. Une fois que nous tenons compte de tous ces frais, une simple demande d'indemnisation pourrait se chiffrer à 10 000 $ et plus. Pour compenser une perte de ce genre, une compagnie de déménagement nécessitera un revenu de 200 000 $, en supposant toujours une marge de profits de cinq pour cent.

Bien entendu, ces coûts peuvent facilement se multiplier si la police d'assurance est insuffisante. Cela peut facilement se produire si l'assureur n'est pas familier avec les rouages de l'industrie du déménagement et de l'entreposage. Les coûts peuvent grimper si la compagnie d'assurance décide de refuser ou de contester la demande d'indemnisation. Les frais juridiques et les revendications des employés pourraient donc être considérables.

De leur côté, les clients doivent aussi connaître les clauses de la police d'assurance en vertu de laquelle ils font une demande d'indemnisation, surtout s'il s'agit d'un déménagement inter-provincial et qu'il y a un changement d'assureur.

En conséquence, les compagnies de déménagement et leurs clients doivent détenir une entente explicite par écrit, de même que comprendre les clauses et les responsabilités en vertu de leur contrat. Lorsque l'on détient des documents précis et que l'on offre un bon service, la plupart des déménagements se font sans accrochage et il est facile de régler les problèmes.

Migration

BETWEEN July 1, 2005 and June 30, 2006, Alberta experienced the highest net inflow of residents, posting a migration rate of 20.3 people for every 1,000 population. British Columbia was a distant second with a net migration rate of 12.3 people, while Ontario was third at 9.6 people. This ranking was unchanged from the previous year.

The data in this release include only people who moved between provinces, census metropolitan areas (CMAs) or census divisions, as well as those who moved into and out of the country. Net migration is the difference between the number of persons who moved into a census division or CMA and the number of persons who moved out.

The highest net inflow among the CMAs relative to the population size occurred in Calgary, which had a net inflow of 21.5 migrants for every 1,000 residents, followed closely by Edmonton with a net inflow of 21.0 migrants and Toronto with 17.3 migrants.

In absolute terms, Toronto had the highest net inflow, with 91,909 more people moving into the metropolitan area than moving out. Vancouver ranked second with a net inflow of 36,321 people, followed by Calgary (+22,961 people). Of the 27 CMAs, 23 had a net inflow from migration, while only 4 experienced a net outflow.

For Toronto, Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton and Montréal (the CMAs with the highest net migration in absolute terms), the number of net migrants was highest in the 25-44 age group.

At the census division level, an important shift in rates of net gain per 1,000 population occurred between the 2004/2005 and 2005/2006 periods.

In 2004/2005, 4 of the 5 census divisions with the highest net gain in migrants for every 1,000 population were located near Montréal, with the census division of Mirabel leading the way.

In 2005/2006, Mirabel still ranked first, but this time it was followed by

Migration

2005/2006

ENTRE LE 1^{er} juillet 2005 et le 30 juin 2006, l'Alberta a connu l'afflux net de population le plus élevé, ayant enregistré un taux de migration de 20,3 personnes pour 1 000 habitants. La Colombie-Britannique suivait loin derrière, ayant affiché un afflux net de 12,3 personnes, alors que l'Ontario est arrivé au troisième rang (9,6 personnes). Ce classement demeure inchangé par rapport à celui affiché l'année précédente.

Les données présentées dans ce communiqué portent uniquement sur les personnes qui ont déménagé d'une province à l'autre, d'une région métropolitaine de recensement (RMR) ou d'une division de recensement à l'autre, ainsi que sur celles qui ont déménagé au pays ou qui l'ont quitté. La migration nette est la différence entre le nombre de personnes qui ont emménagé dans une division de recensement ou dans une RMR et celles qui l'ont quittée.

La croissance nette la plus importante parmi les RMR, si l'on tient compte de la taille de la population, a été enregistrée à Calgary. Cette dernière a connu un afflux net de 21,5 migrants pour 1 000 résidents, suivie de près d'Edmonton (21,0 migrants) et de Toronto (17,3 migrants).

En chiffres absolus, Toronto a affiché la croissance nette la plus importante. Il y a eu 91 909 personnes de plus qui ont emménagé dans la région métropolitaine qu'il y en a qui l'ont quittée. Vancouver suivait au deuxième rang, ayant inscrit un accroissement net de 36 321 personnes, suivie de Calgary (+22 961 personnes). Parmi les 27 RMR, 23 ont connu un accroissement migratoire net, alors que seulement 4 ont enregistré une baisse nette.

Pour ce qui est de Toronto, de Vancouver, de Calgary, d'Edmonton et de Montréal (les RMR qui ont enregistré la croissance nette la plus élevée en chiffres absolus), le nombre net de migrants était plus élevé dans le groupe d'âge des 25 à 44 ans.

three census divisions from Alberta and two from Ontario. Mirabel had the highest net gain with 38.0 migrants for every 1,000 population, followed by Division No. 19 (in Alberta), which includes Grande Prairie, with a net gain of 34.1 migrants per 1,000 population.

The following four census divisions: Division No. 16 (in Alberta), which includes Fort McMurray; Division No. 8 (in Alberta), which includes Red Deer; York (in Ontario); and Peel (in Ontario) tied for third place with a net gain of 28.2 migrants for every 1,000 population.

Note: Migration data were derived by comparing the addresses supplied on personal income tax returns filed in the springs of 2005 and 2006. These flows were adjusted to July 2005 total population estimates.

Migration data reflect intraprovincial moves between CMAs or census divisions (areas such as counties, regional districts, and regional or district municipalities), as well as interprovincial and international moves. Moves across town or across the street are excluded.

International migration data differ from estimates released by the Demography Division. Both sets of data include immigrants and emigrants. However, the data associated with this release exclude net temporary emigrants and non-permanent residents who did not file an income tax return.

To calculate total population change, both migration (including the non-permanent resident population as well as returning emigrants and net temporary emigrants) and natural increase (births minus deaths) must be taken into account.

Migration estimates are available for the provinces and territories, CMAs and census divisions. Five tables covering these levels of geography provide data on the origin and destination, as well as the age, sex and median income of migrants.

MIGRATION de la page 17

sement, un important changement s'est produit entre les périodes de 2004-2005 et de 2005-2006 dans les taux d'afflux net pour 1 000 habitants.

En 2004-2005, 4 des 5 divisions de recensement qui ont connu la croissance nette la plus importante de migrants pour 1 000 habitants étaient situées près de Montréal, la division de recensement de Mirabel étant arrivée en tête.

En 2005-2006, Mirabel était restée bonne première, mais elle était désormais suivie de trois divisions de recensement de l'Alberta et de deux de l'Ontario. Mirabel a affiché la plus forte hausse nette (38,0 migrants pour 1 000 habitants), suivie de la division n° 19 (en Alberta), laquelle comprend Grande Prairie (une migration nette de 34,1 migrants pour 1 000 habitants).

Les quatre divisions de recensement suivantes, soit la division n° 16 (en Alberta), laquelle englobe Fort McMurray; la division n° 8 (en Alberta), laquelle comprend Red Deer; York (en Ontario) et Peel (en Ontario) se sont toutes classées au troisième rang, ayant enregistré un accroissement net de 28,2 migrants pour 1 000 habitants.

Nota : Les données sur la migration ont été obtenues en comparant les adresses inscrites sur les déclarations de revenus des particuliers remplies aux printemps 2005 et 2006. Ces flux ont été rajustés en fonction des estimations de la population totale de juillet 2005.

Ces données sur la migration reflètent les déménagements intraprovinciaux entre les RMR ou les divisions de recensement (régions telles que les comtés, les districts régionaux et les municipalités régionales) ainsi que les mouvements interprovinciaux et internationaux. Les déménagements de l'autre côté de la ville ou de la rue en sont exclus.

Les données sur la migration internationale diffèrent des estimations diffusées par la Division de la démographie. Les deux séries de données internationales comprennent les immigrants et les émigrants. Par contre, les données du présent communiqué excluent le solde des émigrants temporaires et les résidents non permanents qui n'ont pas rempli une déclaration de revenus.

Pour le calcul de la variation de la population totale, il faut tenir compte de la migration (y compris tous les résidents non permanents, les émigrants de retour et le solde des émigrants temporaires) ainsi que des augmentations en raison de la croissance naturelle (les naissances moins les décès).

Les estimations de la migration sont offertes pour les provinces et les territoires, pour les RMR ainsi que pour les divisions de recensement. Cinq tableaux portant sur ces niveaux de géographie procurent des données sur l'origine et la destination ainsi que sur l'âge, le sexe et le revenu médian des migrants.

Canadian Professional Movers Program

IN THE EARLY 90s, the Moving Consultant Orientation Course was the standard training program for Canadian movers.

The Canadian Professional Mover Course was developed in 2000 by members of CAM and Dalhousie University, based on earlier work. Randy Hoyt was responsible for leading the project and staff at Dalhousie put it online. In November of 2000, the first six movers graduated from the course.

The course consisted of nine modules, as it still does today:

- Estimating Procedures
- Long Distance Moving – Canada (2 modules)
- Long Distance Moving – Canada/USA/Mexico
- Local Moving
- Permanent Storage (3 modules)
- Office moving

Since its inception, the course has been reviewed, revised and updated several times by members of CAM, both movers and users. It's administered by Dalhousie and is only available over the Internet to CAM members.

The course is Canada's singular training program for moving consultants to learn about their role and moving services in Canada. Graduates earn a Canadian Professional Mover designation from CAM and Dalhousie University. In March of 2008, CAM designed a new course logo for graduates to use to identify themselves on business cards and stationery as Canadian Professional Movers to clients.

The Canadian Professional Mover Course continues to be used by Canada's leading movers and van lines for their staff development. It's currently being updated by CAM's board of directors.

"CAM's Canadian Professional Mover Course is one of the association's greatest assets," says Rick Taylor, CAM's Chairman and a graduate of the course. "It's a modest investment in staff training that can lead to a big return in customer satisfaction."

The Canadian Professional Mover course is only available in English at this time. Cours des déménageurs professionnels canadiens

LE COURS d'orientation à l'intention des consultants en déménagement (Moving Consultant Orientation Course) était le programme de formation habituel que suivaient les déménageurs canadiens au début des années 1990.

Le cours pour les déménageurs professionnels canadiens a été créé en 2000 selon l'ancien programme, par des membres de l'ACD avec l'aide de l'Université Dalhousie. C'est Randy Hoyt qui fut nommé responsable du projet et c'est le personnel de l'université Dalhousie qui a mis le nouveau cours en ligne. Les six premiers déménageurs ont terminé ce cours avec succès en novembre de la même année.

Le programme se compose de neuf modules :

- Préparation des devis
- Les déménagements longs parcours – Canada (2 modules)
- Les déménagements longs parcours – Canada/É-U./Mexico
- Les déménagements locaux
- L'entreposage de longue durée (3 modules)
- Le déménagement de bureaux

Depuis sa création, ce cours a été révisé et mis à jour à plusieurs reprises par des déménageurs et utilisateurs, tous membres de l'ACD. Il est administré par l'Université Dalhousie et n'est offert qu'aux membre de l'ACD.

Ce cours est le seul programme de formation du genre à l'intention des consultants en déménagement au Canada. Il permet mieux connaître leur rôle et les services du déménagement au Canada. L'ACD et l'Université de Dalhousie accordent aux diplômés le titre de déménageur professionnel canadien. En mars dernier, L'ACD a également conçu un nouveau logo qui permet aux diplômés de faire connaître à leurs clients qu'ils sont des déménageurs professionnels canadiens.

Les meneurs de l'industrie du déménagement et du transport par fourgons automobiles se servent toujours du cours des déménageurs professionnel canadiens pour former leur personnel. Le conseil d'administration de L'ACD est en train de mettre ce cours à jour encore une fois.

Selon Rick Taylor, président du conseil de l'ACD, le cours des déménageurs professionnels canadiens dont il est diplômé, et l'un des principaux atouts de l'Association. « Il s'agit d'un investissement modeste en formation du personnel compte tenu du rendement considérable qu'il apporte en matière de satisfaction des clients. »

Le cours des déménageurs professionnels canadiens n'est offert qu'en anglais présentement. Pour vous renseigner au sujet du cours des déménageurs professionnels canadiens, veuillez contacter l'Association canadienne des déménageurs, 2200 Sherobee Road, chambre 404, Mississauga, ON L5A 3Y3 – tél.: 905.848.6579; sans frais : 1-866-860-0065; fax: 905.848.8499; courriel : www.mover.net.
