ANOTHER summer has now passed, and 2008 will soon meld into 2009.

As I write this address, the U.S. credit meltdown is in full swing. Who would have thought that firms like Merrill Lynch and Lehman Brothers would cease to exist over the course of a weekend?

We believe CAM membership during times like this becomes even more vital.

Below are just a few of the ways we plan to provide real value in the near future:

Annual Conference – This year's theme is Productivity in Changing Times. Our speaker list is designed to highlight "out of the box" ways our members can become more productive in their daily operations.

Training Modules – CAM is looking to complement its Canadian Professional Mover Course with new online training for helpers, packers, van foremen and international crews. This will be a low-cost avenue for enhancing employee productivity.

Website – We have completed a website redesign that we believe will enhance our brand, especially to the consumer.

Of course, all we can do as an association is bring these great services to our membership. At the end of the day, the value we bring to you is only as good as your participation in the association.

I would strongly urge all of our members to take a long look at this year's conference. They say that, even if you are able to take away only one great idea, conferences like this pay for themselves many times over.

On behalf of the Board, I look forward to seeing everyone in Toronto on November 17 and 18.

UN AUTRE ÉTÉ vient de se terminer et nous nous dirigeons peu à peu vers l'année 2009.

Au moment d'écrire ce message, la débâcle américaine se poursuit toujours. Qui aurait cru que des géants comme Merrill Lynch et Lehman Brothers disparaîtraient en l'espace d'une fin de semaine ?

Nous croyons que l'appartenance à l'ACD revêt encore plus d'importance en période de crise de ce genre.

Nous vous donnons ci-après quelques uns des moyens que nous entendons mettre à votre disposition pour soutenir vos efforts :

La Conférence annuelle – Cette année le thème de notre conférence est « La productivité en période de changements ». Nous avons choisi des conférenciers qui nous procureront des moyens de nous sortir des entiers battus pour devenir plus productifs dans nos activités de chaque jour.

Modules de formation – L'ACD attend donner une nouvelle dimension au Cours des déménageurs professionnels du Canada en ajoutant un volet de formation en ligne à l'intention des auxiliaires, emballeurs, superviseurs de fourgons et équipes internationales. Il s'agira d'un moyen très abordable d'améliorer la productivité de votre personnel.

Site web – Nous sommes à mettre la touche finale à notre nouveau site web et nous croyons qu'il rehaussera notre image de marque, surtout auprès des clients.

Bien entendu, tout ce que nous pouvons faire en tant qu'association c'est d'offrir de précieux services à nos membres. À la fin du jour, ces outils ne sont utiles que si vous êtes membre participant.

Je vous conseille fortement d'examiner le contenu de notre conférence cette année. Il est dit que même si vous ne parvenez qu'à mettre une seule idée en pratique, il est payant à la longue de participer aux conférences de ce genre.

Au nom du conseil d'administration j'anticipe le plaisir de vous rencontrer tous à Toronto les 17 et 18 novembre.

President's Message/Message du président

THE Canadian Association of Movers' annual conference is our premier offering each year. CAM is about networking, and the conference brings together movers and suppliers from across Canada and around the world to learn about conditions in our industry, refresh their knowledge of advanced business practices and renew relationships with fellow movers.

The moving business is one of relationships. The effectiveness of how a mover relates to other stakeholders in the business – consumers, employees, fellow movers, van lines, suppliers, contractors and carriers – is a key determinant of success.

This year's conference, titled Productivity in Changing Times, provides solutions to some of the challenges movers face during the course of a year:

- Labour shortages
- Cash-flow challenges
- Rising fuel prices
- Facilities management
- Technology
- Environmental issues

The solution to each of these challenges is a critical enabler that helps a mover to meet demand in the busy season and do better than just survive in the slow periods.

The speakers at the conference will address these issues and provide some ideas as to how to meet these challenges.

In addition to the messages delivered by our speakers, there are several other events that must not be missed – the Sunday Evening Get-Together, the Awards Dinner, the Trade Show and the open discussion at the Annual General Meeting. Each offers opportunities: for developing new networking contacts throughout the industry, for finding an innovative product or service, and for guiding your association in its policies and direction.

We hope to see you there.

John Levi, President

LA CONFÉRENCE annuelle de l'Association canadienne des déménageurs se veut un événement primordial. Le but de l'ACD est de favoriser le réseautage et la conférence procure un moyen de réunir des déménageurs et fournisseurs de partout au Canada et dans le monde désireux d'en apprendre davantage sur le contexte de notre industrie, de rafraîchir leurs connaissances sur les pratiques commerciales complexes et de resserrer les liens avec d'autres membres de l'industrie.

L'industrie du déménagement repose sur les rapports humains. L'efficacité suivant laquelle un déménageur compose avec les autres joueurs dans le commerce – les consommateurs, les employés, la confrérie, les compagnies de fourgons automobiles, les fournisseurs, les contractants et transporteurs – est l'élément clé de sa réussite.

La conférence de cette année s'intitule, « la productivité en période de changements ». Elle vise à apporter des solutions à certains des défis auxquels les déménageurs sont confrontés durant l'année :

- Pénurie de main-d'œuvre
- Flux de trésorerie
- Hausse des prix du carburant
- Gestions des installations
- Technologie
- Questions environnementales

Il est essentiel de solutionner chacun de ces défis afin d'aider le déménageur à répondre aux demandes en périodes de pointe et à soutenir la vitalité de son entreprise en périodes creuses.

Les conférenciers aborderont ces problèmes et proposeront des solutions pour affronter ces défis.

En plus d'entendre des conférenciers inspirants, vous aurez l'occasion de participer à bien d'autres événements d'importance, dont : le rendez-vous du dimanche soir, le souper de la remise des prix, le salon professionnel et l'assemblée générale annuelle. Chacune de ces rencontres offre l'occasion de forger des liens profitables dans l'industrie, de trouver un produit ou un service ou de guider votre association dans ses politiques et son orientation.

Nous espérons vous y rencontrer.

Household Movers & Shippers Limited, Newfoundland

Member Profile

By Kim Biggar

TIMES have certainly changed in Newfoundland. Where it was possible five years ago – and well into the past – for a moving company in St. John’s to fairly easily hire temporary workers during the peak season, a new labour shortage in the province has made finding such employees a real challenge. Gone is the high unemployment so long associated with Newfoundland.

For moving companies operating there, according to David Young, president of Household Movers & Shippers, this worker shortage is a crisis. While Household’s core staff remains solid, the company is constantly advertising, says Mr. Young, to sign up new seasonal workers. And, even though it’s providing “double-digit wage increases” – out of necessity – the company must occasionally turn down jobs because it lacks the manpower to get them done.

Talk of a labour crisis in the moving industry is probably not new to anyone reading this article. Across Canada, moving companies face similar challenges. What makes Household Movers worthy of interest are its initiatives to keep pace with changes in the industry and to keep its core staff engaged throughout the year.

UN VENT NOUVEAU souffle sur Terre-Neuve. Alors qu'il y a à peine cinq ans, une compagnie de déménagement pouvait trouver des travailleurs temporaires sans aucun mal durant la haute saison du déménagement, elle est présentement confrontée à un véritable problème de main-d'œuvre. Adieu chômage élevé qui a si longtemps caractérisé cette province.

Pour les compagnies installées à Terre-Neuve, il s'agit d'une crise aux dires de David Young, président de Household Movers & Shipper. Bien que le personnel permanent demeure stable, la compagnie doit régulièrement placer des annonces pour des emplois temporaires selon Mr. Young. En dépit du fait que les salaires ont doublé – par nécessité – la compagnie doit occasionnellement refuser du travail, faute de personnel.

La crise de la main-d'œuvre dans l'industrie du déménagement n'a sans doute rien de nouveau pour le lecteur. Les compagnies de déménagement sont confrontées à de semblables défis partout au Canada. Or il mérite ici de signaler les initiatives que Household Movers a prises pour suivre le rythme des changements dans notre industrie et tenir son personnel régulier occupé tout au long de l'année.

Historique de la compagnie. Household Movers & Shippers a été fondée en 1952 et est membre affilié de la North American Van Lines depuis 1958. David Young est entré au service de Household à titre de directeur financier en 1975 et a acquis la compagnie il y a 10 ans. Depuis, Household est devenue une entreprise familiale. HOUSEHOLD from page 8 & Shippers was founded in 1952, and has been a North American Van Lines agent since 1958. David Young joined Household in 1975 as CFO, and bought the company 10 years ago. Since then, Household has become a family business: David's wife, Sandra, has been with the company for nine years and is the director of health and safety, developing programs as required by OH&S. Their son Steven also works with the company, as senior operations manager.

Household has three branches and one franchised location in Newfoundland; its head office is in St. John's. During the peak season, it employs about 75 people; this drops to around 50 employees at other times of the year.

About 10 years ago, Sears Canada in St. John's decided to outsource deliveries of furniture and appliances to its customers. Household Movers won the contract for this work, and has been doing it ever since. Thus began the company's foray into a new business line that has helped to support it through the moving industry's traditional off-season.

Early this decade, Household succeeded in getting a similar contract with another large retail player in St. John's. The company now does the warehousing and some deliveries for Future Shop. The home-delivery service, along with other commercial warehousing and delivery services, has helped Household to smooth out its operating cycle and, in doing so, has helped to keep Household employees busy through the moving and storage off-season.

Furthering its diversification, Household has also in recent years become a real-estate lessor. The company has a portfolio of land and buildings in Mount Pearl, Gander and Corner Brook, Newfoundland, and Saint John, New Brunswick. After divesting itself of certain businesses, Household retained and has leased the properties to national tenants. This continuing source of revenue is another pillar to sustain Household and its employees.

That his company grasped these opportunities is at least part of the reason that David Young was given CAM's Innovators Award in 2005. In addition to this, the company continues to be a top producer in the moving and storage business, consistently winning top sales awards and being recognized for proving quality service to its customers.

"All of Our Customers are VIP Customers." It's a mantra you hear regularly nowadays: "our employees are our most important asset." While that may be partly a marketing stance for some companies, it's very true for many service companies, including movers.

David Young certainly recognizes the importance of his employees in making Household a "quality mover." He says a positive attitude permeates the company; his employees, "from salespeople to drivers and packers," share the attitude that all customers are equally important. Mr. Young recalls a conversation he overheard some time ago in which one of the company's drivers noted that "all of our customers are VIP customers." This attitude has "rubbed off" over the years, creating a company-wide culture. "Everyone's ready to go to work on any given day," says Mr. Young, referring to employees' dedicated approach to their responsibilities.

Having an enthusiastic and solid core staff undoubtedly helps the company deal with the growing labour shortage in the industry. As prospective employees continue to be lured westward with expectations of well-paid work – direct flights have even been initiated from St. John's to Fort McMurray, Alberta – it's increasingly important that companies develop innovative practices and programs. Household Movers is doing its part to stem the tide.

la santé et de la sécurité et conçoit les programmes requis par la SST. Leur fils Steven travaille également à la compagnie comme directeur principal des opérations.

Il y a environ 10 ans, Sears Canada à St-Jean a décidé de confier à d'autres la livraison de meubles et d'appareils ménagers chez ses clients. C'est Household Movers qui a obtenu le contrat et la compagnie s'occupe de ces livraisons depuis. Cette nouvelle corde à son arc, lui a donné un coup de pouce durant les périodes creuses du déménagement et de l'entreposage.

Au début de cette décennie la compagnie Household est parvenue à décrocher un contrat similaire auprès d'un autre important commerce de détail à St-Jean. La compagnie s'occupe d'entreposage et de livraison pour Future Shop. Le service de livraison à domicile ainsi que d'autres services commerciaux d'entreposage et de livraison ont aidé à apla- nir les fluctuations du cycle d'exploitation et de ce fait, tenir les employés occupés pendant la saison morte.

Pour étendre ses ramifications, la compagnie Household s'est lancée dans la location d'immeubles. Elle détient des terres et des immeubles à Mount Pearl, Gander et Corner Brook à Terre-Neuve de même qu'à St-Jean au Nouveau-Brunswick. Après avoir liquidé certaines autres entreprises, Household a retenu et loué les propriétés acquises à des tenants nationaux. Cette source de revenu régulière constitue un autre pilier qui assure la subsistance de Household et de ses employés.

C'est en partie grâce au talent de cette compagnie à repérer des occasions d'affaires que David Young a reçu le Prix de l'innovation de l'ACD en 2005. Cette compagnie continue de jouer un rôle de meneur dans l'industrie du déménagement et de l'entreposage et d'accumuler des prix d'excellence dans la vente et la qualité des services qu'elle procure à ses clients.

« Tous nos clients sont des personnes de marque » De nos jours, nous entendons souvent ce mantra : « nos employés sont notre bien le plus précieux ». Il peut s'agir en partie d'une rengaine de marketing chez certaines compagnies mais c'est un fait dans nombre de compagnies de services, y compris chez les déménageurs.

David Young reconnaît certainement le rôle important que jouent ses employés dans la qualité des services de déménagement de Household. Il signale qu'il règne une attitude positive à la compagnie. Ses employés « à partir du personnel des ventes aux camionneurs et aux emballeurs partagent la même attitude vis-à-vis de l'importance de chaque client ». M. Young se souvient d'une conversation qu'il a entendue il y a quelque temps où un de ses camionneurs a dit : « nos clients sont tous des personnes de marque ». Cette attitude que le personnel a adoptée au cours des années est bien ancrée dans la culture de la compagnie. Tous sont prêt au travail, peu importe le jour nous dit M. Young en parlant de leur sens des responsabilités.

L'enthousiasme d'un personnel stable aide la compagnie à composer avec la pénurie de main-d'œuvre dans l'industrie. Alors que les employés potentiels continuent d'être attirés vers l'Ouest où l'on s'attend à des salaires plus alléchants, – il y a même des vols directs entre St-Jean, T-N. et Fort McMurray en Alberta - il est important que les compagnies mettent au point des pratiques et des programmes innovateurs. Household Movers fait sa part pour freiner l'exode.

Smoothing Out Your Cash-flow Roller Coaster

By Shaun Pearen

WHILE most small-business operators love the excitement of running their own company, most of them would gladly give up one common entrepreneur's "thrill": the roller-coaster ride created by peaks and valleys in cash flow. For small-business owners who'd prefer that their cash flow didn't rise and fall like a theme-park ride, Scotiabank's Director of Small Business, Bill Dawson, offers these tips:

Know your customers: Dawson notes that, while it's exciting to sign up new customers, you should check their credit history, carefully select your credit terms for new non-cash customers and make them clear before your first invoice.

Build good relationships with customers and suppliers: "Good ties with suppliers can be invaluable if you ever experience a cash crunch," says Dawson. "And, if you have a solid relationship with customers, they will be less likely to switch suppliers if you ever have to remind them to pay a bill."

Create incentives: Improve your cash flow by offering deals to customers who buy for a fixed period of time. That way, your customers save money on a package of goods or services and you get cash up front. Or, offer clients an early-payment discount, such as  $2/10$  net 30.

Don't be lax about accounts receivable: Invoice immediately after you complete the sale, monitor receivables at least bi-weekly and follow up promptly. Keep on top of your receivables by using an accounting program or a book-keeper.

Knowledge is power: Use a good cash-flow planner, like the free Scotia Plan Writer™ for business or the Scotia Cash Flow for business™ tools available at getgrowingforbusiness.com, and work with a good accountant who can help you perform a cash-flow analysis. An accountant could help you not only to spot potential problems early, but also to highlight your business cycles so you can make smart decisions about when to seek financing, hire staff or make expansion plans.

Use credit to your advantage: "By using a business credit card to pay suppliers and make purchases, you can benefit from the card's grace period and improve your record keeping," says Dawson. "Also, consider arranging a line of credit to cover short-term needs and emergencies in advance, instead of rushing to make arrangements in the middle of a cash crisis."

Manage resources wisely: "Since sitting on inventory both takes up space and costs money, use just-in-time purchasing to reduce your inventory and increase cash flow," advises Dawson. "Contemplate leasing equipment, vehicles or computers instead of buying them outright.

Then, use a high-interest savings account for business to earn as much as possible on the cash you keep on hand."

"Good cash flow doesn't just help pay the bills during business lulls; it also frees up money for marketing, buying new equipment or developing new products or services," adds Dawson. "That lets you enjoy the small-business thrills, without riding the cash-flow roller coaster."

Contenir l'évolution en dents de scie de votre trésorerie

Par Shaun Pearen

S'IL EST VRAI que la plupart des propriétaires de petites entreprises trouvent palpitant d'exploiter un commerce, ils peuvent dans l'ensemble se passer du stress qu'entraînent les hauts et les bas du flux de trésorerie. Pour les proprios de petites entreprises qui préféreraient ne pas voir leur trésorerie fluctuer comme si c'était les montagnes russes, Bill Dawson, le directeur des services aux petites entreprises, offre les conseils suivants :

Connaissez vos clients

M. Dawson fait remarquer que s'il est captivant de dénicher de nouveaux clients, il est important de vérifier leurs antécédents de crédit de même que d'établir et de bien expliquer les modalités de crédit accordées à ceux qui ne paient pas comptant avant de préparer la première facture.

Cultivez de bonnes relations avec vos clients et fournisseurs

« Les liens solides que vous formez avec vos fournisseurs peuvent s'avérer précieux si les liquidités se font plus rares » nous dit M. Dawson. Si vous entretenez de bonnes relations avec les clients, ils seront moins portés à aller ailleurs lorsque vous devez leur rappeler de payer leur facture.

Offrez des mesures incitatives

Vous pouvez améliorer votre flux de trésorerie en offrant des spéciaux aux clients qui achètent pendant une période déterminée. De cette façon, les clients épargnent de l'argent sur l'emballage des marchandises ou sur les services et vous avez des rentrées de fonds. Vous pouvez aussi offrir aux clients un escompte pour paiement anticipé comme  $\frac{2}{10}$  net 30 jours.

Usez de vigilance avec les comptes-clients

Envoyez vos factures dès que vous avez réalisé la vente et vérifiez vos comptes-clients en moyenne deux fois par semaine. Faites le suivi des comptes sans tarder. Tenez vos comptes à jour avec l'aide d'un logiciel de comptabilité ou d'un commis-comptable.

Savoir c'est pouvoir

Utilisez gratuitement le Rédacteur de plans de gestion Scotia pour entreprise<sup>MC</sup> ou le Schéma financier Scotia pour entreprise<sup>MC</sup>, que vous trouverez sur le site getgrowingforbusiness.com et travaillez avec un bon comptable qui vous aidera à faire une analyse de rendement du flux de trésorerie. Un comptable vous aidera non seulement à cerner sans attendre les problèmes possibles mais soulignera aussi les cycles d'affaires qui vous permettront de décider en temps opportun quand demander un prêt, embaucher ou prendre de l'expansion.

Utilisez le crédit à votre avantage

« Si vous utilisez une carte de crédit d'entreprise pour payer vos fournisseurs et faire vos achats vous bénéficierez du délai de grâce accordé en vertu de votre carte et améliorerez ainsi la tenue de vos livrez », aux dires de M. Dawson. Envisagez aussi de demander une ligne de crédit pour couvrir les besoins à court terme et les urgences de liquidité, ce qui vous évitera de faire des arrangements à la dépêche si vous êtes à court d'argent.

Gérez vos ressources prudemment

« Vu que les inventaires prennent de l'espace et coûtent de l'argent, faites appel à un système d'approvisionnement juste à temps pour réduire vos stocks et accroître votre flux de trésorerie » nous conseille M. Dawson. Envisagez louer l'équipement, les véhicules ou les ordinateurs plutôt que de les acheter immédiatement. Vous pouvez ouvrir un compte d'épargne à rendement élevé pour faire fructifier au maximum l'argent à votre compte.

« Si vous avez un bon flux de trésorerie, vous parviendrez non seulement à payer les factures en périodes creuses mais vous aurez des réserves pour financer votre stratégie de marketing, l'achat d'équipement ou le développement de nouveaux produits ou services » ajoute M. Dawson. Vous pouvez ainsi profiter des plaisirs d'être propriétaire sans les désavantages de l'évolution en dents de scie de votre flux de trésorerie.

Canada's Population Estimates

Second quarter 2008 (preliminary)

CANADA'S population posted its highest quarterly growth since 1991 in the second quarter of 2008, with an increase of 125,800. The advance was mainly due to a rise in net international migration which, at 91,600, reached its highest level since the end of the 1980s.

As of July 1, 2008, Canada's population was estimated at 33,311,400. From April to June, Canada's population grew by 0.38%.

The increase in net international migration over the second quarter of 2008 is mainly explained by an increase in both the number of immigrants and non-permanent residents.

Between April and June, 69,200 immigrants entered Canada, nearly 7,600 more than the same quarter a year earlier but below the peak of almost 74,500 observed in the second quarter of 2005.

Immigration was up in all provinces and territories. New second-quarter records were reached in Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Ontario, which traditionally received more than half of Canada's immigrants, fell below the 50% mark for the sixth quarter in a row.

The number of non-permanent residents in Canada also rose by more than 30,800 from April to June, the highest increase ever for a second quarter.

Higher net numbers of non-permanent residents were observed in almost every province and territory, especially in Quebec and in the four western provinces, where the levels topped second quarter highs.

Canada's rate of natural increase in the second quarter of 2008 remained relatively stable compared with the same period of 2007, with the number of births and deaths increasing in a similar fashion.

Demographic Growth Still Higher in the West. The rise of net population inflows resulting from international migration from April to June 2008 has affected population dynamics in almost all regions of the country. Every province saw their demographic growth increase compared with the second quarter of 2007.

The four provinces west of Ontario as well as Prince Edward Island were the fastest growing provinces during the second quarter of 2008. Alberta's demographic growth, which was the highest in the country at 0.78%, was more than twice the national level.

Alberta led the provinces in rates of natural increase and international migration. Moreover, Alberta saw a resurgence in interprovincial migration from April to June 2008.

Estimations de la population canadienne

Deuxième trimestre de 2008 (estimations provisoires)

AU DEUXIÈME TRIMESTRE de 2008, la population canadienne a affiché une croissance trimestrielle de 125 800, soit la plus importante depuis 1991. La progression a été principalement attribuable à une hausse du solde migratoire international, qui, chiffré à 91 600, a atteint son niveau le plus élevé depuis la fin des années 1980.

Au 1<sup>er</sup> juillet 2008, la population du Canada était estimée à 33 311 400. D'avril à juin, la population canadienne a crû de 0,38 %. La hausse du solde migratoire international au cours du deuxième trimestre de 2008 s'explique essentiellement par une augmentation à la fois du nombre d'immigrants et de celui des résidents non permanents.

D'avril à juin, 69 200 immigrants ont été reçus au Canada, en hausse de près de 7 600 par rapport au même trimestre l'année précédente. Ce nombre demeure toutefois inférieur au sommet de près de 74 500 atteint au cours du deuxième trimestre de 2005.

L'immigration a été en hausse dans toutes les provinces ainsi que dans tous les territoires. Des sommets pour un deuxième trimestre ont été atteints à l'Île-du-Prince-Édouard, au Manitoba, en Saskatchewan et en Alberta. L'Ontario, qui traditionnellement recevait plus de la moitié des immigrants au Canada, s'est situé sous le seuil des 50 % pour un sixième trimestre consécutif.

D'avril à juin, le nombre de résidents non permanents au Canada s'est également accru de plus de 30 800, soit la plus forte croissance jamais observée pour un deuxième trimestre. Des soldes de résidents non permanents plus élevés ont été observés dans la plupart des provinces et des territoires, tout spécialement au Québec et dans les quatre provinces de l'Ouest, qui ont présenté des niveaux record pour un deuxième trimestre.

L'accroissement naturel du Canada est demeuré relativement stable au cours du deuxième trimestre de 2008 par rapport à celui affiché à la même période en 2007, le nombre de naissances et de décès ayant augmenté sensiblement de la même façon.

Une croissance démographique toujours plus forte dans l'Ouest. La hausse du solde migratoire international observée d'avril à juin 2008 a eu une incidence sur la dynamique démographique de presque toutes les régions du pays. Toutes les provinces ont vu leur croissance démographique s'accroître par rapport au deuxième trimestre de 2007.

Les quatre provinces à l'ouest de l'Ontario, ainsi que l'Île-du-Prince-Édouard, ont été les provinces ayant affiché les plus rapides croissances démographiques au cours du deuxième trimestre de 2008. L'Alberta a affiché l'accroissement de population le plus élevé (+0,78 %), soit plus du double de celui affiché par le pays.

L'Alberta a mené les provinces aux chapitres des taux d'accroissement naturel et de migration internationale. De plus, le solde migratoire interprovincial albertain a repris de la vigueur d'avril à juin 2008.

Ailleurs dans l'Ouest, le Manitoba, la Saskatchewan et la Colombie-Britannique ont toutes affiché un accroissement démographique supérieur à celui du pays au cours du deuxième trimestre de 2008. Pour le Manitoba, il s'agissait de la plus

Elsewhere in the West, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and BC all posted demographic growth above the national level in the second quarter of 2008. Manitoba posted its highest quarterly increase since the third quarter of 1982.

The Atlantic provinces all recorded population increases in the second quarter of 2008. Prince Edward Island led the way (+0.60%), mainly due to a larger net inflow from international migration.

For a third quarter in a row, Ontario's demographic growth was below the national level. The province continues to record an important net outflow in interprovincial migration, especially to Alberta.

While the number of births and international migration were both on the rise in Quebec from April to June 2008, the province recorded an increased net outflow in interprovincial migration. Like Ontario, Quebec's net outflow was mainly towards Alberta. Nevertheless, Quebec posted its highest growth rate in population since the third quarter of 1992.

In the North, the Northwest Territories was the only territory to post a population decline from April to June 2008. Its net outflow from interprovincial migration was its largest for a second quarter since 1988.

forte croissance trimestrielle enregistrée depuis le troisième trimestre de 1982.

Les provinces de l'Atlantique ont toutes affiché des croissances de leur population au deuxième trimestre de 2008. L'Île-du-Prince-Édouard a mené la région en enregistrant une croissance de 0,60 %. Le rendement de la province a été principalement attribuable à un plus fort excédent en migration internationale.

Pour un troisième trimestre consécutif, la croissance démographique de l'Ontario était inférieure à celle du pays. La province a continué d'afficher d'importantes pertes migratoires interprovinciales, spécialement dans ses échanges avec l'Alberta.

Alors que le nombre de naissances et le solde migratoire international étaient à la hausse au Québec d'avril à juin 2008, la province a affiché un déficit migratoire interprovincial plus élevé. Comme cela a été le cas pour l'Ontario, les pertes enregistrées par le Québec se sont faites principalement vers l'Alberta. La province a néanmoins affiché sa plus forte croissance démographique depuis le troisième trimestre de 1992.

Dans le Nord, les Territoires du Nord-Ouest ont été le seul territoire à afficher une décroissance de sa population d'avril à juin 2008. Ses pertes migratoires interprovinciales ont été les plus élevées enregistrées pour un deuxième trimestre depuis 1988.

The Cost of Moving

By Fred Haladay

IN AN EFFORT to provide our clients with some understanding of the realities of costs affecting this industry, over the past few months we have accumulated costing information provided by carriers, the Canadian Association of Movers and suppliers of packaging materials used within the moving and storage industry. Following is an explanation of the impact of these costs to give the reader some sense of what has transpired within this industry over the past two years.

Any discussion of cost and increases has to involve, and should open with, the current cost of commodities. While the rising cost of fuel is affecting everyone, it has a particularly detrimental impact on transportation companies. In April 2006, the cost at the pump for diesel averaged $0.96 per litre. According to the website of MJ Ervin & Associates (which carriers use for tariff fuel surcharge determination), the current average diesel price is $1.33 per litre. Not only does this have an enormous direct effect on the costs associated with transportation services (basic moving costs, storage-facility utility costs, leasing costs, per-mile allowances, repair costs and equipment purchases, for example); it has also exacerbated the general shortage of drivers and trade labour by giving the commodity companies extra leverage to compete; the higher wages they can provide allow them to increasingly draw from the casual-labour pool that movers also use to complete services.

Since April 2006, general labour wages that were paid at $8.50 to $10.00 per hour are now averaging $11.50 to $12.00 per hour, and increase according to the employee's level of experience and competitive demands of a region within the market. A case in point would be the western provinces and the commodities sector's draw of the casual-labour market. Considering that starting wages in the area range from $13.00 to $15.00 per hour (when you can find people at that level of salary), we have to at least acknowledge that the draw for talent into the oil sands (Fort McMurray area) and like locations has had its effect on casual-labour availability and the moving industry's ability to compete; thus wages escalate and a subsequent pass-through in the form of a western surcharge is necessary.

It is important for the reader to understand that, in most circumstances, there are not enough resources in the moving industry to have either extensive or competitive benefits programs or the ability to provide guaranteed employment for a consistent number of working hours per week. For the most part, all a mover has to compete with in the labour market is a wage, and when you consider that more-sophisticated companies, such as financial and commodity-based companies, have extensive recruitment and benefits programs, you can begin to understand this industry's dilemma. Wages are up and they will likely continue to rise, as moving companies continue to compete for labour within the marketplace, whether it's head to head within the industry or against other types of companies. Companies, such as Yellow Freight, Tim Hortons and McDonald's, for example, provide good wages and benefits (a good value package) for their associates that make it increasingly difficult for our carriers and like service providers to compete. Wages will continue to be an issue for this industry in the near future, but as I indicated earlier, wages are not the only items affecting industry cost.

Packaging companies, which provide our carriers with the cartons, packing materials and home-protection materials used on every move, have raised their prices in just over two years by 21 percent to 23 percent. A main supplier to the industry tells us that continuing pressure for resources driven by China and third-world emerging economies will further affect costs in the fall of this year and, most likely, in the spring of 2009. This supplier would not project what impact this demand will have, but gave every indication that the industry can expect the coming increase to reach double digits again as long as fuel, freight and container costs continue to rise as they have over the previous year.

Subsequent to the initial discussion with this supplier, we received notifications from two other, competing firms indicating that there would be cost increases, averaging from 9 percent to 12 percent, over the summer on all cartons and materials produced for movers. And finally, a subsequent notice from our main supplier outlined a further 8.25 percent general increase in corrugated-product pricing to take effect in the fall of 2008.

Fuel, wage and material costs are three of the major variable costs associated with moves, but the industry has also been affected by economic factors in other areas. To give the reader a sense of this effect, the following represents a recap of a census that was completed with industry participants.

- Fixed costs, for such items as equipment, vary from a 9-percent-to-14-percent increase in Canadian purchases of vans and trucks to a 5-percent-to-8-percent decline in the cost of power units (tractor/trailers) due to the reduction in the exchange rate between Canadian and US dollars. The cost of steel continues to rise and will affect future equipment purchases accordingly.

- Van equipment is averaging around a 6-percent increase in rates, as the gains in the dollar exchange were quickly offset by the increase in transportation costs to get furniture skins and pads into Canada from third-world producers via overseas containers.

- Leases related to equipment are up by 10 percent, with leasing companies hedging their positions based upon commodity prices.

- Maintenance agreements and repairs are up from 6 percent to 13 percent reflect-

Le coût de déménager

Par Fred Haladay

AFIN D'ÉCLAIRER nos clients sur les coûts qui affectent notre industrie depuis quelques mois, nous avons recueilli des renseignements auprès des transporteurs, de l'Association canadienne des déménageurs et des fournisseurs des compagnies de déménagement et d'entreposage en matériaux d'emballage. Je tiens à vous expliquer les effets adverses de ces coûts pour que vous sachiez ce qui se passe dans l'industrie depuis les deux dernières années.

Lorsque vous discutez de coûts et de leur augmentation, vous devriez commencer par citer les frais courants des marchandises. Alors que le prix du carburant affecte tout le monde, les compagnies de transport sont davantage touchées. En avril 2006, le coût pour un litre de gazole était de 0,96 $. Si l'on s'en tient aux renseignements fournis par MJ Erivin & Associates (dont les transporteurs utilisent pour fixer leur tarif de supplément carburant), le coût actuel moyen est de 1,33 $ par litre. Non seulement cette hausse affecte-t-elle considérablement les coûts directs des services de transport (coûts fixes de déménagement, d'entreposage, de services publics, de réparation, d'achat d'équipement et indemnité de millage par exemple) mais aussi le nombre de chauffeurs et autres travailleurs. Vous voyez, les compagnies de matières premières sont en meilleure posture pour concurrencer du côté des salaires et viennent puiser dans le bassin de travailleurs des déménageurs.

Depuis avril 2006, les salaires sur le marché conventionnel du travail qui s'élevaient de 8,50 $ à 10,00 $ l'heure sont passés à une moyenne de 11,50 $ à 12,900 $ l'heure, compter tenu de l'expérience et de la demande dans la région d'un marché particulier. Pour vous citer un exemple concret, prenons le secteur des produits de base dans les provinces de l'Ouest. Si nous tenons compte d'un salaire de départ se situant entre 13,00 $ et 15,00 $ l'heure (lorsque nous pouvons trouver des gens à ce salaire), il nous faut admettre que la recherche de talents pour travailler dans les sables bitumineux de Fort McMurray par exemple a une influence sur la disponibilité de la main-d'œuvre temporaire et la capacité de l'industrie du déménagement à concurrencer. Comme les salaires grimpent dans l'Ouest, il est nécessaire d'appliquer une surcharge compensatoire.

Ce qu'il faut comprendre c'est que dans la plupart des cas, le manque de ressources ne nous permet pas d'offrir des programmes d'avantages sociaux complets ou de garantir un emploi pendant un nombre d'heures fixes par semaine. Dans l'ensemble, le seul facteur sur lequel un déménageur peut concurrencer est le salaire qu'il offre et si l'on tient compte de compagnies mieux pourvues comme celles des prêts et des produits de base qui ont en place des programmes de recrutement et d'avantages sociaux compréhensifs, on peut comprendre le dilemme auquel se heurte notre industrie. Les salaires augmentent et ils continueront de le faire à mesure que les compagnies de déménagement tentent de se disputer les travailleurs, que ce soit avec des compétiteurs ou autres compagnies. Les entreprises comme Yellow Freight, Tim Hortons et McDonald par exemple, fournissent de bons salaires et de bons avantages sociaux (un programme d'avantages intéressants) à leurs associés, ce qui rend de plus en plus difficile aux transporteurs et fournisseurs dans notre domaine de concurrencer. Les salaires continueront de poser un problème pour nous dans un proche avenir mais comme je l'ai signalé précédemment, ils ne sont pas l'unique problème qui affecte les coûts de notre industrie.

Les compagnies d'emballage qui procurent aux transporteurs les cartons, le matériel d'emballage et de protection résidentielle ont majoré les prix de 21 à 23 pourcent en un peu plus de deux ans.

COÛT de la page 19

Un fournisseur important de l'industrie nous a signalé que la pression constante créée par la Chine et les économies émergentes du tiers-monde, affecte les coûts actuels et le scénario se répètera au printemps de 2009. Ce fournisseur n'a pas élaboré davantage sur l'impact que cette pression aura mais tout semble indiquer que l'industrie peut s'attendre à payer le double tant que les coûts du pétrole, du transport et des contenants continueront d'augmenter tout comme ils l'ont fait cette dernière année.

À la suite de cette première discussion, nous avons reçu un avis de deux autres compagnies nous informant que le coût de cartons et d'autres matériaux destinés aux déménageurs allait augmenter de 9 à 12 pour cent par rapport au prix de l'été dernier. En dernier lieu, nous avons reçu un avis de notre principal fournisseur nous avisant d'une augmentation de 8,25 pour cent à compter de l'automne 2008 sur les produits cannelés.

Le carburant, les salaires et coûts des matériaux sont trois des principales variantes qui affectent l'industrie du déménagement mais d'autres facteurs économiques interviennent. Pour donner au lecteur une idée de la situation voici un compte rendu d'un recensement effectué auprès de membres de l'industrie.

- L'augmentation des coûts fixes, par exemple ceux de l'équipement varie entre 9 à 14 pour cent pour l'achat canadien de fourgons camions et diminue de 5 à 8 pour cent pour le coût de véhicules tracteurs/remorques, en raison de la diminution du taux de change entre le dollar canadien et le dollar américain. Comme le coût de l'acier continue d'augmenter il affectera l'achat d'équipement dans l'avenir.

- Il y a une augmentation moyenne de 6 pour cent sur l'équipement de fourgon, pour compenser l'annulation des gains du taux de change du dollar créée par la hausse des coûts d'importation des housses et coussins protecteurs arrivant au Canada par mer des pays du tiers-monde.

- Pour protéger leur position, les compagnies de location ont augmenté de 10 pour cent les frais de location d'équipement afin de contrebalancer l'enchérissement des produits de base.

- Les conventions d'entretien et de réparation ont grimpé de 6 à 13 pour cent pour compenser le problème des ateliers à retenir leurs effectifs. Il y a également une pénurie de personnel dans cette industrie et les prix de réparation en atelier continueront de monter afin d'attirer du personnel qualifié.

- La location de locaux est en hausse de 10 pour cent en moyenne en raison des prix réels sur le marché de l'immobilier qui ont grimpés dans les principaux centres, et particulièrement en Alberta où l'augmentation se situe à 30 %. Nous en sommes presque au point où il est difficile de trouver des locaux d'entreposage abordables, surtout à Edmonton. Le marché de l'habitation a quelque peu connu une relâche cette année mais pas vraiment du côté des locaux d'entreposage. Nous sommes témoins d'une hausse continue dans les coûts de location à cause d'une plus forte demande américaine en approvisionnements pétroliers d'où la nécessité d'extraire plus de ressources sans oublier la hausse du prix du baril.

- Pour toutes ces raisons mais surtout à cause des frais de réparations, les primes d'assurance ont augmenté en moyenne de 7 à 10 pour cent. Les primes continueront d'affecter le domaine de la réparation. Une augmentation dans ce secteur fera monter les primes progressivement au cours des prochaines années.

Tels sont les principaux facteurs économiques qui ont sensiblement affectés les coûts des déménageurs au cours des 24 derniers mois. Les frais d'exploitation généraux ont été contenus dans une proportion moyenne de 3 à 5 pour cent pour cent mais encore là ils ont été très affectés par les salaires sur les marchés concurrentiels. Si ce n'était pas pour l'augmentation des salaires et des avantages sociaux du personnel de bureau, l'augmentation des frais d'exploitation suivrait l'augmentation de l'indice des prix à la consommation de 2007.

COST from page 18

tive of repair-shop issues with staff. There is a shortage in trade workers that is affecting this industry, as well, and this shortage will continue to drive prices up as repair shops work to attract labour to their industry.

- Real-estate leases are up in general by 10 percent, due to the real-estate price increases in most major centres, particularly the 30-percent increase in the Alberta market. It has almost come to the point that carriers are having trouble finding reasonable warehousing space in Alberta, especially in Edmonton. This situation has eased somewhat this year for the housing market, but not necessarily so for warehousing. We see a continual trend upwards in lease costs, as more resources are extracted in the area because of the rising price per barrel and increased American demands for a safe supply of oil.

- Because of all of the foregoing, but in particular due to rising repair costs, insurance premiums have increased on average between 7 percent and 10 percent. Premiums will continue to be affected by the repair market; increases in that area will result in comparable insurance-premium cost increases over the coming years.

These represent the majority of cost centres for movers that have been tremendously affected by the economy over the last 24 months. General operating expenses have been more controlled, at between 3 percent and 5 percent, but again, are heavily affected by wages in competitive markets. If it weren't for the increase in wages and benefits for office staff, the increase in general operating expenses would most likely have been in line with the consumer price index increase for 2007.

Chairman's Reception: 5:30 to 6:30

Awards Dinner: 6:30 to 9:00

The Canadian Association of Movers annual Awards Dinner is the event at which the moving industry honours its own. It is the one time in the year when movers from across Canada and from all brands can get together to honour those individuals who have provided exemplary service to the industry, founded or continued one of the leading companies in the industry, and lead the industry through their innovation in operations, customer service, process improvement or one of the many aspects of our industry.

The Distinguished Service Award recognizes a prominent member of the moving profession who exemplifies the standards that CAM promotes; serves as a positive role model; has demonstrated leadership, commitment and integrity; and has made significant contributions to the Canadian moving industry.

The Founders Award honours a pioneering member of the moving industry who has had a long career of outstanding contribution to and impact on the moving profession; has demonstrated innovation and leadership; has raised the profile and performance of the industry, and promoted quality and integrity by example; and has served as a mentor to others in the profession.

Monday, November 17, 2008

8:45 – 9:00      Opening Remarks

9:00 - 10:30      Keynote Address
Change Gears or Get Shifted
Effectively Managing in Changing Times
Joe Sherren - Ethos Enterprises Inc.

Today's successful businesses are those that are moving to flexible, customer-focused and proficient positions, taking advantage of the rapidly changing business environment. In order to achieve that, everyone involved must bring more value than cost.

The way we work has been redefined by the multi-generational workforce, virtual technologies, and global communications. Unconditional lifetime employment is gone forever. We are all trying to understand and respond to the changes occurring in our workplace and personal lives. Although at times you may feel overwhelmed, it is important that we react to these changes in a positive and productive manner.

This unique and powerful keynote will help participants deal with new expectations, shifting priorities, the information explosion and different reporting relationships, where roles are sometimes vaguely defined.

Joe's inspirational message of change and optimism will motivate you to believe in who you are, while challenging you to reach for your full potential.

10:30 – 11:00      Break

11:00 - Noon      MPG Etcetera
Ralph Stockmayer - Industry Development Manager, Penske Truck Leasing L.P.

Ralph will address the energy-efficiency and control issues that affect fleet fuel costs. The presentation will include operations management, new-vehicle specifications, fleet-maintenance practices, driver-training and -incentive programs, fuel management and purchasing, fuel-saving products, and fuel theft. He will provide some MPG training materials for the fleet manager to take home.

Noon – 1:15      Lunch

1:15 - 2:15      Technology for Moving Professionals – Improving the Bottom Line
Maxim Kreynin - Managing Director Voxme Software Inc.

There is a common set of tasks that every moving company needs to handle on a daily basis – lead management, surveys, quotations, labeling, inventory control, shipping documentation, invoicing, and exchange of shipment information with trading partners. With customers' expectations rising and margins eroding, companies look at technology to improve the bottom line. This presentation will show comprehensive solutions that help automate the common tasks, improve professional image and meet clients' expectations.

2:15 - 3:15      Immigration for Movers
Nan Berezowski
Barrister & Solicitor, Attorney-at-Law
Berezowski Business Immigration Law

Are you thinking about hiring foreign workers but confused by all the immigration talk? Over the past year and a half, the federal government has implemented a host of band-aid solutions in hopes of addressing the system's shortcomings; more recently, it introduced new immigration laws, programs and policies. In this time of transition, it is hard to know what's real, what's current and what works. We will consider the main features of Canadian immigration, the recent policy shift and its implications for the moving industry.

First and foremost, this presentation will help you determine what immigration options are available and viable for your business.

3:15 – 3:45      Break

3:45 – 4:45      Intermodal – A Moving Option
Tony Bianco - National Accounts Manager
CN Rail - Intermodal

Over the past year, CN has experienced double-digit growth in its Intermodal Business unit. High fuel prices, shrinking truck capacity and a growing demand from shippers for an "environmentally friendly" mode of transportation have sparked this growth. Intermodal is the most-energy-efficient, lowest-cost mode of transportation to move commercial goods to markets across North America.

Can this work for the moving industry? Why not? The presentation will cover the growth of intermodal in North America, future capacity trends, cost efficiency, environmental sustainability, security and risk, and how best to work with the railroad.

Tuesday, November 18, 2008

9:00 - 10:00      Take Your Company to the Next Level
Bill Dawson - Director of Small Business
Scotiabank

Beginning with a brief Scotia Economics overview of Canada, the main presentation following will focus on the key elements to the success of taking a company to the next level. This will cover the importance of creating and following a good business plan. The presentation will also cover three pillars for growth:

Understanding your customer and your market;
Meeting your sales needs and maintaining quality as you grow; and,
Managing cash-flow and financing business growth.

10:00 – 10:15      Break

10:15 - 11:15      Warehouse Design for the Modern Mover
Gunars Robeznieks - Senior Vice President
Giffels Design-Build Inc.

The modern global economy depends on the efficient flow of products to the consumer. Warehouses are central to this supply chain, creating consequences for capital and operational costs. Facility design, operational optimization, retrofits for energy efficiency, and green solutions can all hold genuine opportunities to increase productivity – the means to put your real estate to work for you.

11:15 - Noon      Specialties – The Skills That Make Movers Unique Among Professional Drivers
Joshua Rose - Manager of Projects
Canadian Trucking Human Resources Council

The National Occupational Standard for 'Professional Drivers' defines the things that truck drivers do on the job. However, there are a number of tasks (or skills) that van foremen and/or moving drivers perform that are specialized – not part of the work of other truck drivers.

The Canadian Trucking Human Resources Council is in the process of defining these specialized tasks. In September and October, specialty sessions will be held with movers and van foremen from across Canada, and a draft report on the moving specialty will be created. At this session, we will present highlights from the draft report, answer questions, and ask for comments or feedback from the audience.
